BILL PASSES CONGRESS IN RUSH

Long Fight Succeeds—Measure Goes to President for Signature

(Special Star-Bulletin Cable)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 27.—The Honolulu federal building bill has been approved by the senate and the house and is ready for the president's signature. C. S. ALBERT.

In the closing days of the sixty-third Congress, the fight has been won for the million-dollar federal building for Honolulu.

The Warren bill, appropriating $1,225,000 for a site and to construct a building, passed the senate on June 23, 1914, and after delay passed the house on Jan. 16, 1915. Then it went to conference, the principle amendment being made in the house, limiting the cost of the site to $250,000.

Because of the shipping bill filibuster and because of the discussion of the conference, the authors of the bill have not been able to get it back on the senate calendar for action and it has been feared that the Congress might go out of session without perfecting the measure. The news today means that the bill has finally passed and Honolulu gets the building after negotiations of more than seven years.

Anniversary of 100 Years of Cordial Relations Between U. S. and Britain Noted

With the echoes of Europe's mighty conflict sounding around the globe, Hawaii emphasizes peace between nations and friendship between peoples. The American ideal is held aloft in this American outpost.

(Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless.)

TOKIO, Japan, Feb. 27.—Count Shigenobu Okuma, premier of Japan, in a statement to Dr. Shailer Mathews and Dr. Sidney L. Gulick, declares that Japan has no intention of trespassing on China's rights or to interfere with the "open door" policy in the new republic.

His statement to the two men delegated by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America to carry a message of good-will to Japan is one of the most important announcements that has been made during the entire Japan-China crisis.

Premier Okuma says that Japan's real desire in voicing her so-called demands is to take measures that will prevent China from falling prey to any nation. China's integrity, he emphasizes, is the sole guaranty of peace in the Orient. The preservation of this integrity is Japan's sole aim, he says, and declares that other efforts to disturb the relations between Japan and America having failed, mischievous persons are now seeking to cause a clash over China.

Japan has no intention of monopolizing the Chinese markets by any unfair means, he asserts.
